

NEW! 2019 OpenADR Education Seminar Series

The OpenADR Alliance has gathered over 140 members globally and certified more than 150 products that implement the OpenADR standard. These products have automated and simplified applications for DR and DER markets, including renewable energy, energy storage, demand response and electric vehicle charging.

The OpenADR Alliance is broadening its outreach in 2019 in response to the accelerating certification of products and growing deployment of OpenADR-based solutions. During DistribuTECH 2019, we invite you to join us for the first in a series of OpenADR Education Seminars.

You will learn how OpenADR is facilitating grid integration of rapidly increasing DERs and innovative storage solutions. Hear about our capabilities and success stories from industry leaders including utilities, aggregators and equipment manufacturers.
